Updated: October 14, 2018. By June 2018, the site had accumulated over 10,500,000 downloads. Filbert Follmer started the RepRap project in 2009 and defined the RepRap Format. He called it the Open Reprap Architecture (ORA).This invention relates to the field of storage containers and, more particularly, to the field of portable storage containers. In our contemporary society, the storage of personal articles such as keys, small tools, pocket change and the like is frequently unsatisfactory. While this problem is somewhat common in residences, it is also frequently encountered in those who must travel. The problem of securing personal items has been addressed through the use of lockable containers in which objects are placed. The container may then be placed within a suitcase, pocket, or the like for security purposes. As a result of the need to carry small articles on one's person, there have been developed a variety of containers which are structured to be carried on the person. An example of this is the Key Holder.RTM., manufactured by Scotchperry Ltd. of

Chipping Campden, England. This container is of a simple design and of a type having a carrying handle pivotally attached to the container body. Typically, the container is constructed of a sturdy, lightweight, molded plastic having a hinge member attached to the container at one end and to a rigid handle at the other. When not in use, the handle is folded over and positioned to be carried within a pocket or the like. When in use, the rigid handle is extended and the container hung from the person's shoulder. While carrying containers such as these provide a reliable means for transporting a variety of items and are particularly useful for those who must travel long distances on a regular basis, they are often inconvenient to carry and tend to be cumbersome. In an effort to overcome these problems, others have developed a folding container which is carried in a variety of ways. Some of these containers are characterized as having a folding handle. An example of such a container is the Keyholder Carry Bag.RT
